JUMPED THE TRACK.

Twenty People Injured in an Accident on Street Car Line From Akron to Cuyahoga Falls—Two May Die.

AKRON, O., June 22.—A street car on the line from this city to Cuyahoga Falls jumped the track and turned over Tuesday afternoon. Nearly twenty people were hurt, two of them receiving injuries that are likely to prove fatal. Those who are most severely hurt are:

Ira Rogers, of Cleveland, whose skull was fractured and who was injured internally, and Mary B. Rankin, of Akron, who was hurt internally. Both of these, it is thought, will die.

Mrs. Sarah Schumacher and Mrs. Caroline Rankin, of Akron; Mrs. Jenni Shepherd, of Trinidad, Colorado, and Sylvester Moses of Cleveland, were badly, though not dangerously, injured. The motorman and conductor saved themselves by jumping.

Hahn Withdraws.

COLUMBUS, O., June 22.—The fight for the nomination for member of the board of public works in the republican state convention Wednesday has been simplified by the withdrawal of Wm. Hahn, of Zanesville, Muskingum county. Up to Monday afternoon Hahn was supposed to have a fair chance with the other candidates—W. J. Johnson, of Summit, and T. A. Robinsen, of Seneca county. Hahn's friends came in, however, and announced his withdrawal.

ON THE PLANK.

Reds Lose a Game to the Ex-Champions.

The Game Was Snappy, But Buck's Men Couldn't Hit—Reds Still Lead.

There seems to be a lack of oxygenic ginger in the baseball atmosphere in and about Cincinnati. This condition seems to have prevailed for some days, and of just what duration the spell is to be no one seems to know. To lose the last five out of six seems is rather a bad record for a team that for some time has been touted as pennant winners.

It has been a standing assertion in the baseball world for years that the Reds were cold weather players, and their recent record seems to give color to the statement and mark it as truism.

Yesterday's game was a fine exhibition and was clean from all disagreeable features.

The playing on both sides was superb, and the defeat was due to the fact that the Reds could not hit Maps.

CUBANS

Shower Upon the Americans the Blessings of Cuban Libre

FOR THEIR ASSISTANCE.

Admiral Sampson and General Shafter and Staff Visit General Garcia's Headquarters and Great Shouts Arose from the Half Fed Cuban Veterans.

Special to The News.

OFF SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 20, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 22.—Gen. Calixto Garcia and other Cuban officers gave Gen. Shafter and Adm. Sampson a hearty welcome at Acerradoro Monday afternoon, when the American officers on board the steamer Seguranca went to his headquarters for a consultation.

The Cubans showered upon their distinguished visitors all the blessings of Cuba libre for the assistance of the United States in the Cuban struggle for freedom and they expressed the conviction that victory was at hand and that the power of Spain would soon be driven from the island by the combined strength of American and Cuban arms.

When the first curl of smoke appeared on the distant horizon at noon and announced the coming of the long-expected soldiers, Gen. Garcia himself, with the officers of his staff around him, stood on the hillside overlooking the sea and gave forth expressions of joy as he watched the approach of the vessels.

The welcome news soon spread among his half-fed, half-clothed troops and great shouts arose from the dark skinned veterans who have spent three years in fighting the war of liberty. They watched the Seguranca accompanied by the auxiliary gunboat Gloucester, draw away from the other vessels and make her course to the flagship. After she had taken Adm. Sampson aboard they saw her heading for shore near their mountain camp. The Cubans sent a guard of honor to the beach to receive the Seguranca. As soon as she came to anchor in the cove, Gen. Shafter and his staff, including Gen. Ludlow, chief of engineers, and Adm. Sampson accompanied by a guard of soldiers, went ashore in small boats. They were received by the Cubans with all military honors, and horses were placed at the disposal of Gen. Shafter and Adm. Sampson to ride up the steep trail to Gen. Garcia's headquarters.

The Cuban commander's tent is a rude hut, covered with leaves and containing only a meager camp outfit. Here, after words of greeting had been spoken, the consultation was held. It lasted several hours. Gen. Garcia explained the plans fully; told how he had the Spanish general, Pando, cooped up in Manzanillo, without the possibility of his being able to cooperate with the Spanish troops in Santiago, and laid before the American officers maps showing all the mountain trails leading to Santiago from the most convenient landing places east and west of the harbor entrance.

Gen. Ludlow in particular made a close investigation of this subject and sought all the information available with regard to the most feasible plans of transporting a large body of troops overland.

Two Lively Delegations From Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, O., June 22.—Two lively delegations to the state republican convention left here Tuesday morning. The McKissonites, with a brass band and banners, went away on the Big Four, and the Hannaites went on the C., A. & C. There is no likelihood that the McKisson delegation will be seated, but they left here with the grim determination to make a big rumpus in the convention, at least.

Special to The News:

Kingston, June 22.—The Cubans have just brought information to Admiral Sampson that Admiral Cervera has prepared to make a desperate effort to take his ships out of the Santiago harbor when the first favorable opportunity affords. The Spanish warships have been coaled to their full capacity and the crews are refused permission to go to shore. Every night vessels drop down the bay to embrace the first favorable opportunity to attempt to dash past the blockading squadron. It is said that the Spanish Admiral hopes to at least save a portion of his ships from capture and in the fight to sink some American crafts. It is asserted that a Spanish cruiser can, with careful management, get past the wrecked Merrimac. A dispatch from London says the Queen Regent of Spain has sent her jewels and valuables to Vienna for safety.

ANCHORED

About Twenty Miles Off Santiago Are the Transports.

GENERAL SHAFTER'S IN-

Vading Army Arrived There on Monday at Noon—Cable Communications Re-established Between Washington and Guantanamo.

Special to The News.

OFF SANTIAGO, June 20, via Kingston, Jamaica, June 22.—The United States fleet of transports and convoy ships, comprising 36 vessels, all told, arrived off Adm. Sampson's fleet, 10 miles off Santiago, at 12 o'clock Monday afternoon.

The army is now ready to land and take Santiago, the navy attacking the sea side of the city at the same time. The question of a landing place is being discussed at the present moment by Gen. Shafter and Adm. Sampson. It will be 10 miles above or 10 below Santiago, or possibly at Guantanamo. The distance from Guantanamo to Santiago by road is 40 miles.

The arrival of the transport fleet was seen by the Spanish from Morro castle.

A salute to the army was fired by the flagship New York.

The voyage from Tampa was uneventful. A few cases of measles and one of typhoid were reported. The soldiers were in high spirits and eager to get ashore.

The American army of invasion under Gen. Shafter numbers 15,557 officers and men, including 19 infantry equipments, two siege batteries, two companies of engineers, a detachment of the signal corps and 40 troops of cavalry, dismounted.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Gen. Greely, chief of the signal service, states that cable communication has been re-established with Guantanamo, the Cuban end of the cable being worked from one of the vessels in the harbor. He confirms the report that Gen. Shafter's troops arrived off Santiago Monday.

Capt. James Allen, of the staff of Maj. Gen. Miles, who was recently stationed at Key West as censor, has been appointed to take charge of the censorship at Guantanamo. The Guantanamo cable is regarded as of the greatest importance to the government, and the cable station and telegraph line will be carefully guarded.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—There was important news at the war department when Secretary Alger reached his office Tuesday. The transports with 15,000 troops he was informed had arrived safely off Santiago, and that direct cable communication had been established between the United States and Guantanamo, where the United States marines now hold possession of Cuban soil. Thus not only is Capt. Gen. Blanco cut off from any communication with the outside world save through the Key West cables within our control, but the authorities in Washington have been placed in close connection with our forces, army and navy, which are conducting the invasion of Cuba.

To Gen. Greely and his signal corps belongs the honor of achieving this last feat.

Gen. Blanco is sending six battalions to protect the coast of the province of Santiago de Cuba. Great enthusiasm prevails in Havana. Order is maintained and no yellow fever is reported.

The senate Tuesday confirmed these nominations: O. H. Mills, of Texas, to be assistant adjutant general in the army with rank of major; Otto N. Falk, of Wisconsin, chief quartermaster with rank of major.

Advices received in Washington by way of Marseilles, France, confirm the first reports that the Spanish fleet had returned to Cadiz. The dispatch states that the Vittoria was injured and was towed into port.

Thomas C. Noxon, senior member of the firm of Noxon & Thomas, artists, St. Louis, well known all over the country as painters of theater scenes, is dead from nephritis. He has been a resident of that city for 50 years.

An official dispatch from Havana says that about 50 additional ships, many of them loaded with troops have appeared off Santiago de Cuba and that a battle is imminent with the Spanish forces occupying the coast.

Gov. Sadler, of Nevada, has been called upon for one battalion of infantry consisting of four companies of 100 men each. C. A. Bennett, of San Diego, Cal., has been directed to make arrangements for the organization of recruits.

COOLNESS IN BATTLE.

Capt. Wildes Drank His Coffee While Fighting the Spanish Fleet in Manila Bay

If you want to say that any man is always cool, calm and collected, say that he was cool as Capt Wildes, of the cruiser Boston. He is one of the officers with Dewey's fleet at Manila, and all the world is wondering at his calmness. While the Boston slowly steamed into the bay of Manila, while two opposing storms of projectiles swept the waters, while a man could not hear himself think in the thunder of the guns, Wildes stood on the Boston's bridge watching, when the smoke raised, the deadly accuracy of his gunners. Wildes was as cool as a cucumber, but the weather was warm. So he called for a big palm leaf fan, and, calm as a woman at the opera, fanned himself.

So cool and calm was this Yankee fighter while the Spanish ships were sinking under the hail of lead that he remembered he had not had his breakfast. It speaks well for Wildes that, under the circumstances, he bethought himself he was hungry. If a man has a good appetite he is in good health, and if he's healthy he can fight. Feeling the cravings of his appetite, Wildes ordered a cup of coffee to be served to him on the bridge. One can easily imagine he hears Wildes' order, punctuated by orders, thus:

"I'd thank you for a cup of coffee—Lieutenant, you've got the correct range—and not too much sugar. Another smash like that and the Castella's a goner."

This is probably the first cup of coffee ever served and consumed on a fighting bridge during battle. "Cafe a la Wildes" will be a popular drink in Uncle Sam's navy.

But Wildes was not the only hungry man in that fleet during the first part of the magnificent fight. Dewey was hungry, and, being kind and thoughtful, he remembered that all his men and all his officers must be hungry, too. So when breakfast time came Dewey drew off his fleet, and every Yankee on the fleet enjoyed his breakfast very much indeed. Having finished breakfast they went back and finished the Spaniards.

COL. JONES ALLEN.

The Man Who Inspects and Revises All the Press Dispatches Sent Via Key West.

Capt. Jones Allen, nominated a lieutenant colonel by the president, is a sphinx and a terror to the correspondents now quartered at Key West. The new lieutenant colonel is the censor of the press dispatches at that point, and, although implacable in that capacity, he is a very good fellow otherwise. He was graduated from the military academy in 1872 and spent three years with the Third cavalry in Wyoming. After that he was detached for signal service and remained in that department of the army until 1878. He was sent to New Mexico for three years, and in 1881 returned to the signal service in Washington. In 1884 he rejoined the Third cavalry, then in the Indian territory. For two years—from 1887 to 1889—he was detailed as cavalry instructor at West Point, was detached again for signal service, and from 1892 to 1894 he was a member of Gen. Miles' staff at Chicago. Since 1894 Capt Allen has done staff duty, chiefly with Gen. Ruger and Gen. Merritt. He was promoted to the rank of captain ten years ago.

HE CROWDED HIM.

How George Secured Her Father's Consent to Their Marriage.

"You say that George is going to marry Mabel Brown?"

"That's right."

"But how on earth did he get the old man's consent?"

"He worked it beautifully. You know the old man is pretty green on the wheel, and as nervous as a tea-guzzling old maid. He's reached that stage where he is dead afraid somebody will run into him, and—well, George took advantage of it. He waited until he could catch the old man alone in the park, and then he came up alongside of him. The old man almost tumbled off when George spoke to him, but he made a brave attempt at a bluff. 'Excuse me,' said George, 'for breaking in upon the pleasure of your ride, but I have some business of importance to transact with you.'

"'I never talk business when I'm cycling,' said the old man, with his eyes firmly glued to the front wheel.

"'Oh, don't you?' said George, as he sheered in towards him.

"'Wow!' said the old man, with a violent wabble. 'What do you want?'

"'I want to marry your daughter!' said George.

"'What!' roared the old man. 'Well, you don't—keep away, darn you!' for George was again crowding him.

"'I love her,' said George, 'and she loves me—'

"'Nonsense!' snorted the old man.

"'Eh?' said George, and pushed up a little closer.

"'Go way, you idiot!' howled the old man, 'or you'll have me in the ditch!'

"But George crowded him still closer.

"'Then I have your consent?' he asked.

"'No—yes—get away—you may have her—pull out!' bellowed the old man, in an agony of terror.

"'Thank you,' cried George, with a howl of delight, and rode away full tilt to carry the good news to Mabel."—Cycling Gazette.

WIVES AS PROPERTY.

Polygamy as It Is Practiced in Parts of Africa.

One of the problems of civilized man is how to live with a wife. The question that worries the Pondo is how to get along with only one. Monogamy is to him a condition of abject poverty. When, however, he can afford the luxury of three or four wives, he is fairly assured of success in life, and with half a dozen he is rolling in wealth. The explanation of this paradox is simple: Whereas civilized man is supposed to support his wife, the Pondo leaves to his women folk the privilege of supporting him. This shows that a savage is not necessarily a fool. Mr. James O'Haire, missionary of the Catholic church in Umtata, explains the working of the system in a letter. "Polygamy," says he, "is the very life's support of the Pondos; the number of wives a man has settles the question as to his previous wealth, for each wife was bought, and for her he must have paid from eight to 30 oxen; and now his wealth may be estimated by the number of wives and children, because the whole affair may be simply described as natural human farming. Each daughter is worth, say, ten oxen; if she is well built and pretty, she may sell for 40; then, too, the sons work in the care of cattle, for the whole Kaffir property consists in cattle. The wives work, and so do the daughters. But the head of the family, the man, works no more after marriage." The "dignity of labor" is so noble a thing that one cannot but admire the complete self-abnegation of the polygamous Pondos in leaving it all to their females. And yet the absence of work does not seem to prey upon their spirits. "They are as happy as the day is long; they all smoke tobacco and drink beer, and eat mealies and beef, or the flesh of wild animals or wild birds. They sleep a great deal, and then rise and laugh and sing and dance, and play and work a little, and are without a solitary care, without sadness or sorrow."—South Africa.

A Furlough Defined.

"What is a furlough?" asked a Columbus (O.) teacher.

"It means a mule," was the reply of Mary.

"Oh, no," replied the teacher; "it doesn't mean a mule."

"Indeed it does" said Mary. "I have a book at home that says so."

"Well," said the teacher, now thoroughly interested, "you may bring the book to school and we'll see about it."

The next day Mary brought the book, and in some triumph opened to a page where there was a picture of a soldier standing beside a mule. Below the picture were the words: "Going Home on His Furlough."—Chicago Journal.

Russian cycling regulations may be decidedly stringent, but the public is saved many a moral shock by that rule which provides that female riders shall not appear upon the streets unless dressed in conformity with police instructions on the point.

Electric pacing appears to be a widely advertised bluff. So long as we have good, sound human muscles to guide and push the big machines, there is no reason for monkeying with the electric dud that goes like an express train today and acts like a fizzled firecracker to-morrow.

Military cyclists will have a busy time at the next great maneuvers at Brussels, to occur very shortly. A company of 120 men has been formed and is mounted on folding bicycles of Belgian make, as mounted infantry. Every chief of corps, general, colonel, major or captain will have under his order a certain number of cycling dispatch carriers.

President Dole's itemized bill of expense for his trip through this country amounts to $7,000, to which he has added his donation of $500 to the Maine relief fund.

Robert Taylor, the postmaster at Scarva, County Down, Ireland, who has just reached the age of 114 years, has received from Queen Victoria a beautifully framed portrait of herself.

Count Tolstoi will soon celebrate his fiftieth anniversary as a journalist, or, rather, the anniversary will be celebrated by his admirers. A "Tolstoi school" is to be founded in Moscow in his honor.

The czar of Russia, so the story runs, has among his household an understudy singularly like him in appearance, who shows himself at the windows of railway carriages and the like when his imperial majesty does not wish to disturb himself.

PEARLS OF THOUGHT.

Speech is the small change of silence.

Friendship, I fancy, means one heart between two.

Earnestness works out its own cure more surely than frenzy.

There is nothing the body suffers that the soul may not profit by.

Two hearts that make one soul do not separately count their gifts.

Gossip is a beast of prey that does not wait for the death of the creature it devours.

That small motives are at the bottom of many illustrious actions is a modern discovery.

It has been established that we do not wax diviner by dragging down the gods to our level.

Drolleries, humors, reputed witticisms, are like odors of roast meats, past with the picking of the joint.

True poets and true women have the native sense of the divineness of what the world deems gross material substance.

The simplicity of the life of labor looked beautiful. What will not look beautiful contrasted with the fly in the web?

Published memoirs indicate the end of a man's activity, and that he acknowledges the end. They are his final chapter, making mummy of the grand figure they wrap in the printed stuff.—From the works of George Meredith.

BUTTONS, PINS AND BUCKLES.

A lapel button has the flag mounted under a crystal.

Miniature army buttons are used as designs for shirt waist sets.

A hat pin has the American flag mounted under a crystal on the head.

A very pretty belt buckle is a shield enameled white with the American flag in the center.

A shirt waist set consists of small American flags, the cuff links being a flag and a gilt silver bar.

A brooch design which is also utilized for a lapel button consists of enameled American and Cuban flags lying on a laurel wreath of silver gilt.

A patriotic brooch or bar pin is a sword or gun with a small enameled flag at the middle. These designs are also shown with the American and Cuban flags crossed.

A striking design is a belt buckle representing the flag only. It is finely colored and is undulated so that the buckle gives the appearance of a flag waving in the breeze.

CLOTHED IN GLASS.

This Is by No Means an Impossibility—Excellent Substitute for Silk.

"People who live in glass houses must not throw stones," says the proverb; but what will we do in case our women folks come to dress themselves in glass? In the march of modern invention this seems by no means an impossibility. We are told that a European manufacturer is turning out bonnets by the thousand, the glass cloth of which they are composed having the same shimmer and brilliancy of color as silk, and, what is a great advantage, being imperrious to water. In Russia, there has for a long time existed a tissue manufactured from the fiber of a peculiar filamentous stone from the Siberian mines, which by some secret process is shredded and spun into a fabric which, although soft to the touch and pliable in the extreme, is of so durable a nature that it never wears out. This is probably what has given an enterprising firm the idea of producing spun glass dress lengths.

"The Muscovite stuff is thrown into the fire when dirty, like asbestos, by which it is made absolutely clean again; but the sun-glass silk is simply brushed with a hard brush and soap and water, and is none the worse for being either stained or soiled. The material is to be had in white, green, lilac, pink and yellow, and bids fair to become very fashionable for evening dresses. An Austrian is the inventor of this novel fabric, which is rather costly. Table cloths, napkins, and window curtains are also made of it. It has also been discovered that glass is capable of being turned into a fine cloth, which can be worn next the skin without the slightest discomfort.

Brief Piece of Mind.

"Why, Edith?"

THE SECOND

One of the Best Drilled Regiments in Camp.

Recruits Received With a Hearty Welcome — Interesting Letter From One of the Boys.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, GA., June 19, 1898.

For the last few days new recruits have continually swelled our ranks and this morning the number has reached 24. They usually come into camp at night under a guide; and in the morning it is not uncommon to find either a friend or stranger in bed on our side under the influence of Morpheus.

They behold strange scenes and make new experiences of which they probably least thought of before they left their many homes to take their place with the war like people.

The movements of the troops seem fascinating to most of them and especially that of the Second. Yesterday the Second drilled for over an hour without stopping or making a single break; and we all feel that were it not for the new recruits we would already be prepared to leave.

The field and line officers said that the movement of the troops was perfect and that they thought there was no other regiment which could drill as well as that of the Second.

The new recruits are greeted with cheers, and all are received with a hearty welcome, for we all know that strangers or friends, they come from a home which is most sacred to those who are not expected to behold the many familiar scenes and sights it contains until we have shown the country and the world that the American infantry is as invincible as the navy, and that we possess the pride of our country and are only too willing and glad to be accounted to be ready to suffer that others might enjoy of that same freedom and liberty secured to us. The usual remarks when I greeted the new recruit was: "You will never get to see what we expected, the worst is over with." But this is not in time of peace and we are not out here for a picnic and old men as well as the new should not be very much surprised to be compelled to live and feed on hard tack and bacon in the next few days; but such we would expect if is uncalled for as long as we occupy the present camp, for the facilities are such that the best provisions can easily be secured.

Private Lutz received his sentence last night in the presence of the sergeant. It is a sentence which can never be forgotten by the boys who were present since he was the first to be sentenced from this regiment. Mr. Lutz stood on the dress parade field under the guard consisting of six men with guns armed, who took their position respectively in front, behind and at the side of Mr. Lutz; then in the field occupied a position behind the center of the regiment and under our orders and the sentences of the other regiments were read by the regimental adjutant, everyone was quiet and all expected to hear Mr. Lutz's sentence. All were quiet as the guard and Mr. Lutz marched in the rear of the regiment from center to rear and came back in front until he reached the place just in front of the center of the regiment, and after Mr. Lutz resumed his hat, the sentence was read. Most of them were surprised to find that it was six months hard labor and a forfeit of $10 of pay during that period.

The blankets and tents arrived yesterday for the new recruits, and they have received the army dishes, which to a civilian would seem too much of an abomination for convenience, but is a good thing for the boys who wash and carry them.

Captain F. M. Bell is officer of the day today, and Lieutenant Reichelderfer is officer of the guard tomorrow.

YESTERDAY

Was the Longest Day in the Year—Today Was Exactly its Counterpart—Week a Remarkable One.

June 21 has always been known as the lengthiest day of any calendar day of any year, but there is a combination of circumstances the present year that adds interest to the event. In addition to June 21 being the longest day of the year, the almanac shows also that the present week is the longest week that has been calendared for many years. But as to June 21. The sun rose at 4:59 a. m., just the same as it did on Sunday and Monday mornings, but did not set until 7:04, while the moon set at 9:02. The length of the day, therefore, was fourteen hours and thirteen minutes. Something that does not happen in years is the coincidental circumstances that Wednesday will be exactly, to the very minute and second, as long as June 21. The sun rises and sets at the same time. The following table in this connection is not only interesting, but well worthy a place in one's scrapbook. It shows that the week of June 19–25 is the longest week on record. Here is the table:

	Sun Rises.	Sun Sets.	Moon Sets.
Sunday, June 19	4:59	7:03
Monday, June 20	4:59	7:03	8:01
Tuesday, June 21	4:59	7:04	9:02
Wednesday, June 22	4:59	7:04	9:35
Thursday, June 23	5:00	7:04	10:06
Friday, June 24	5:00	7:04	10:35
Saturday, June 25	5:00	7:04	11:06

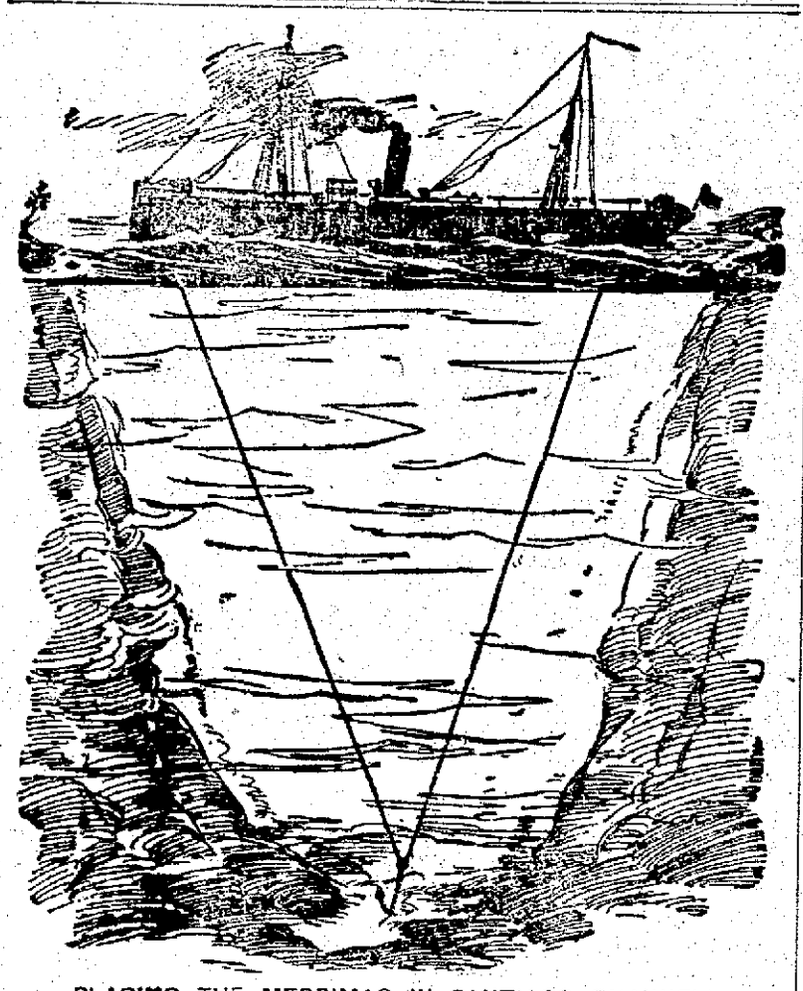

It will be observed that not only has Tuesday and Wednesday exactly the same length, but Thursday, Friday and Saturday have the same number of hours and minutes.

As Company C will leave camp June 30, this will be your last chance to see the boys in Chattanooga, so get ready to leave Lima via C., H. & D. next Wednesday, June 22. Only $10.00 for the round trip.

PLACING THE MERRIMAC IN SANTIAGO CHANNEL

In sinking the Merrimac in the channel of Santiago de Cuba the work required a first-class naval officer who knew how to put a spring on the cable and let the current or tide carry out his wishes in regard to swinging his ship at a right angle to the channel previous to sinking her. To put a line on a cable a line or chain is passed out of an aft chock, or port, led forward and bent on the chain attached to the anchor that is to be used. On letting go the anchor the cable is paid out forward and aft until enough cable has run out to hold the ship broadside to the tide. Then the cables are made fast, and by paying out cable at either bow or stern, as may be required, the ship will swing by the action of the tide to any desired angle.

WHAT DO YOU WANT.

If you want help—a situation, have something to sell or rent, or if you wish to buy something, remember that a "want" in the NEWS costs much less than in any other paper and will bring you more answers than in all the other papers in the aggregate. If you want a girl, you are sure to find a good one through a "want" in THE NEWS. A lady had a want in the Times a week and got no girl. She placed it in THE NEWS, and before 8 p. m. had several applications and secured a first-class girl.

PARLIAMENT

Of Labor in Regular Session Last Night.

NEW DELEGATES ADMITTED

Several Committee Reports Heard and Acted Upon—Labor Day Celebration the Main Topic—Notes.

Last evening's session of the delegates to Trades and Labor Council was one of the liveliest and most interesting in point of oratory and good feeling that has been held by that body of representative workingmen in their High street council hall in many moons.

While several of the delegates at roll-call were noted absent, there was quite a number of "old-timers" present to transact important business of the meeting and extend the right hand of fellowship to the new delegates who were there for the first time ready with credentials from their respective locals, among whom were noted Mr. Snyder and Mr. Mowrey from the Master Horseshoers Union, and Mr. Bacome from the Printers Union.

When the minutes of the last meeting were read and passed upon the regular order of business started through with a rush.

The reports of special and regular committees took up considerable time, particularly those appointed to look after the Labor Day celebration, and reduced car fare for the benefit of workingmen going to and from their work. The committee having in charge the request from the bicycle makers' union regarding the recognition of bicycles bearing the union label, by the local dealers made a report that the members visited the dealers and after making their mission known to them were told that they handled only union made wheels, but had paid no attention to the label, as they were not aware that the union had adopted such an emblem. However, hereafter after they would see that the wheels ordered for local sale would have attached the insigna of the union.

The report was satisfactory and the committee was, on motion, continued for further investigation of the duty assigned them.

The executive committee of the council made a report of the special meeting held in the interest of reduced fares and Labor Day celebration. After reporting the business of the meeting, the resolutions which were read and adopted at the meeting, were submitted to the council and met the favor of the delegates. These resolutions were published in all the city papers Tuesday.

Tonight the executive committee will hold another meeting and select two of its members to interview the merchants and manufacturers of the city in regard to their opinion of having a big labor and industrial exhibition on Labor Day.

If this committee meets with the proper encouragement from these people a demonstration will be gotten up in Lima on the first Monday in September that will be marked as an event in the history of Lima's enterprise.

Delegates from Barbers Union stated that regarding a rumor which gained currency among union men that councilman Robbins, who is a member of the Barbers Union, was not favorable to the requests of union men who attended the city council in the interest of organized labor, was erroneous and without foundation. That Mr. Robbins had always proven himself to be a worthy union advocate, and had pledged himself that anything he could do consistently in his official capacity as councilman, for the benefit of the workingman, organized or unorganized, he would do, as he himself was a workingman, and a proud member of the union of his profession.

This report met with the indorsement of the union, and Mr. Robbins' actions and words were concurred in.

Barbers' Union also reported that Mr. Stein, who heretofore had been under the ban of his union, squared himself with the organization satisfactory to all members, and was now held in good standing by his brethren.

Under the head of good and welfare of the order several mighty good labor speeches were made by Bros. Kendall, from the moulders; Greenland, from the machinists; Lober and Morin, from the barbers; Snyder and Mowery, from the horseshoers; Vermillion and Bacome, from the printers; Hossellman, from the cigar makers, and many others.

The speeches were all well taken and everybody seemed to be in good humor, as wit and wisdom flooded the council hall.

Brother Hossellman, who is acting as president in the absence of Brother C. C. Sullivan, who has been in Chicago for several weeks, announced that it was in order to elect a president to fill the office of Mr. Sullivan, as report had it that that gentleman was not coming back to Lima very soon.

Brother O. E. Bennett, who has so ably filled the office of secretary, tendered his resignation, giving for his reason that he had much work to do evenings at home, that it was impossible to fill the office as it ought to be, and hoped that the delegates would release him from his official duties.

Both matters were laid over until next meeting on account of the lateness of the hour, and an adjournment was taken.

Notes.

Printers special meeting this evening at 5:30. Every printer requested to attend.

There are five non-union tailor shops in the city as reported by the delegates from Tailors Union.

The executive committee from Trades Council will meet in the anteroom of the Council hall this evening for important business.

Federal Union meeting this evening. This promises to be a big gathering. Twenty-one new members to be initiated. All old members should be present.

The union moulders of Lima are making an effort to have their scale on a par with even the little towns in the state. It costs more for rent and provisions here than where their craft receive better wages.

MARK HANNA ought to read the story of Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica. It might help in the future.

THE convention at Columbus is decidedly Hanna in tone and flavor. It is purely commercial in its tendencies, and simply shows all honest Republicans the powerful and dangerous influence this ex-green grocer, of Cleveland, is exerting in the ranks of the G. O. P.

SIGNS of desire for peace are growing in Spain very rapidly. Peace with victory was never possible, and is not now expected; but peace with honor cannot well be hoped for if Spanish vindictiveness refuses to give to the Hobson party the soldier's benefit of exchange. The most that Gen. Blanco or, to name the actual authority, the Queen Regent, can fairly exact from Hobson, is the latter's parole to sink no more Merrimacs.

IT is a serious reflection upon the intelligence and character of honest Republicans everywhere to know that the entire party and men who represent it in convention, are owned so absolutely and entirely by one man—and such a man. To know that Marcus A. Green Grocer Hanna can move and control all the "big men" in the state, with the same ease and indifference that he would move the titular degentarians of the chess board, makes all who are true Republicans blush for shame. The present convention at Columbus is a fair example of a political convention in a commercial age.

HANNA'S SHADOW

Envelopes the State Convention at Columbus--An Effort

ON THE PART OF PARTY

Leaders to Avoid Faction—Hanna Delegates From This City Were Seated—Rule of Last Year Reversed—Details of Convention.

It will be a surprise to the politicians in and about the city, who have watched the political horoscope for years, to know that the established precedent of last year, by which the delegates chosen by the majority of the county central committee and who were afterwards unseated, has been repudiated and an entirely new rule set up. It will be remembered that at the time of the convention last year the Foraker faction predominated and they appointed delegates to the state convention, which was held in Toledo about a year ago. The committee on credentials rejected the Allen county delegation and the Foraker men were unseated.

This year the order of affairs was somewhat reversed and in the county assemblage the Hanna men were in the majority. They proceeded in exactly the same manner as the Forakerites of last year, and it was hoped by many that it would be with the same result. However, such was not the case. The men who were for and with Hanna seem to be on the right side of the mountain. The dispatches from Columbus this morning say that the Hanna delegates from Allen county were seated, and so far the convention has been devoid of any special feature.

The McKissen men are in evidence, but will have little compliance in the policy, and absolutely nothing to say as to the adoption of the platform or what it will contain.

Charley Grosvenor and Harvey Daugherty have both made speeches. The convention, it is said, will be very short and it lacks spirit and ginger and is almost free from factional fighting of former years. After the senatorial contest of last winter, the factions became known as "The National Administration Men" and "The State Administration Men." The former had the delegates Tuesday from 17 of the congressional districts and the other four districts were in dispute owing to county contests. The national administration republicans were so strong that the opposition to them was not felt anywhere. Of the four districts in which there were contests, that of the Twenty-first district, in which the delegation of Mayor McKisson, of Cleveland, figured, was the only one of any proportions, and it was regarded by some as the inauguration of a third term movement for Mayor McKisson. The McKissou contest kept the committee on credentials in session all night and all the cases were decided against the already very small minority. The new state committee did not organize awaiting the report on credentials, but it is understood that Cyrus Huling will be chairman of the central committee and Harry M. Daugherty, of the executive committee, both close friends o Senator Hanna.

The temporary organization was made permanent and the national administration had everything its own way during the day and evening. There were differences of opinion in the committee on resolutions as to the declarations on the state administration and the bolting republicans in the legislature, and these resolutions may be ignored Wednesday.

Gov. Bushnell occupied a back seat on the platform Tuesday and many of the strongest Hanna men object to any resolutions regarding his administration or on the action of the bolting republicans in the legislature. There is considerable favorable comment on Congressman Grosvenor's keynote speech, in which he said the American flag would remain in the West Indies and Philippines and wherever it was planted in warfare. The delegates favor the acquisition of all the islands thus acquired. Convention adjourned until Wednesday at 9 a. m.

The committee on credentials Tuesday night decided not to recognize the McKisson delegation from Cleveland.

IS SOLVED AT LAST.

Shells to Carry High Explosives Said to Have Been Perfected.

If Successful They Will Revolutionize Engines of War and Make Them So Destructive as to Make War Unlikely.

Since the discovery of high explosives the military and scientific experts of two continents have been cudgeling their brains to perfect a shell to throw them, says the New York Press. An officer in the United States army has practically completed a device which perhaps will perform this hitherto impossible task.

Pierce is the officer's name, and as there are only two of his name in the regular army, one of whom is post chaplain in Fort Apache, A. T., it is reasoned that the other Pierce is the man. He is P. E. Pierce, instructor in the West Point Military academy, and second lieutenant of the Second infantry.

Every fact connected with the invention is hedged about with secrecy. It is not denied that the device is not far from actual completion. This fact alone is sufficient to set the whole scientific world agog, especially in these times of war. It is possible that it is so far advanced that it may be tried on the Spaniard. It is known that this is hoped to be done, but so sedulously is the whole matter guarded that it is not even known where the experiments are being conducted or how far they have progressed.

The invention is a detonating fuse for a shell to fire high explosives. Such a fuse, it is believed, will advance ten years the day which it is predicted some time will come when war will no more be waged because of its very destructiveness. The minute an American rifle hurls a shell of this kind successfully at an enemy all other shells will be as antiquated as rifles without magazines. The day that witnesses the perfection of such a shell will relegate to a position of secondary importance billions of dollars worth of ammunition stored in the arsenals of Europe. So say ordnance experts.

KISS FOR CERVERA.

Spanish Admiral Formerly a Social Favorite in the National Capital —The Story of His Pet Monkey.

It is not generally known that Admiral Cervera, the commander of the Spanish fleet, was formerly a naval attache in Washington.

He represented the government of Spain in Washington about 15 years ago. He resided in a boarding house on Thirteenth street, and the landlady of this establishment now has a good picture taken of the lieutenant when stationed here.

Lieut. Cervera was universally liked and was a close student of naval matters. He was recognized then as an unusually capable fellow.

The woman with whom he boarded told me an amusing incident of Cervera. The latter had a white monkey which he kept as a pet. A young woman who boarded at the house took a great liking to the animal and asked the lieutenant if he would part with it. Cervera replied in a laughing manner:

"I will give you the monkey if you will kiss me to-morrow in the breakfast-room before all the boarders."

He thought nothing further of the matter, but the young woman was not easily put off. When Lieut. Cervera appeared at breakfast the following morning he was astounded by having a pair of arms thrown around his neck and receiving a hearty kiss on his cheek. The young woman had taken him at his word and carried out her part of the compact, and Lieut. Cervera promptly turned over to her the pet white monkey.

LEGLESS BASEBALL PLAYER.

Trenton (N. J.) Boasts of a Cripple Who Is a Pitcher—Is in Demand.

Trenton, N. J., boasts of probably the most remarkable baseball player in the country in Herbert M. Van Cleef. He is without legs. His favorite position is that of pitcher, and he has a control of the ball that is wonderful. He is much in demand among the Trenton amateur clubs as a ball twirler, and during the summer season picks up a good many dollars in that way. He is wheeled to and from the box in a chair, and while seated in the vehicle delivers the curves that puzzle the best batters among the amateurs. Behind the chair stands an attendant, who manages it, and when a liner or fly comes in the direction of the pitcher he is immediately wheeled within reach of it, and it rarely escapes his clutch. When it comes to base running he is handicapped, but there are always substitutes to attend to that part of the game for him. Van Cleef is about 20 years old, and lost his legs two years ago through a railroad accident.

No New Developments in Differences Between

Telegraphers and the Officials of the C. H. & D. Road—Higher Officials Soon to Take Part—Notes.

There were no new developments reported yesterday in the differences between the Order of Railway Telegraphers and the officials of the C. H. & D. road, and the grievance committee said during the day that it is unlikely there will be anything new in the situation before the latter part of the week, says the Cincinnati Tribune. While not definitely giving out that statement, the impression is gained that the committee is waiting for the arrival of higher officials of the order before deciding on a future line of action. That the men are not disposed to recede from the position that they have taken is evident, however, from the expressions they freely make, and what the outcome of the matter will be is as yet impossible to say.

WAGES RESTORED.

The directors of the Louisville and Nashville Railway Company, decided yesterday to restore the cut made in wages of its army of employes during the panic of 1883, and which has been in force since that time. Twenty thousand men are directly affected by this action, and 200,000 profit by the increase in pay. Five years ago a cut of 20 per cent. was made in the salaries and wages of every man on the company's pay roll. The matter became National. Strikes were threatened and labor meetings were held all over the country.

The L. & N. officers refused to budge one inch, declaring that when business in the West and South picked up they would restore the cut. At the meeting of directors and upon the consent of the large bondholders in New York and London it was decided to pass the usual dividend this year and restore the cut to the men. President Milton H. Smith has just returned from a trip to London, where he secured the consent of the bondholders to the plan.

RAILROAD RATE WAR.

Chicago, June 22.—The interstate commerce commission will be asked to suggest some means of bringing the war between the American roads and the Canadian Pacific to a summary conclusion.

The executive committee of the Western Passenger association formally decided upon taking this course, and strong delegation of western general passenger agents will go to Washington as soon as an appointment can be made with the commissioners.

The project of putting in a $5 rate from ocean to ocean has been temporarily abandoned. It was recognized that to do so would be the extremest folly, the only result of which would be to sacrifice an enormous proportion of the revenue of the American lines, compared with which the effect on the Canadian Pacific would be the merest trifle.

NOTES.

Chief train dispatcher E. R. Bissell, of the L. E. & W., is on the sick list.

The C., H. & D.'s business at the Toledo docks is heavier than ever before, and more coal has been handled there so far this season than during all of last season.

General Freight Agent Chambers, of the D. & L. N. railroad, was here yesterday from Detroit, and together with passenger agent E. W. Hiner, also of the D. & L. N., spent the day at Russell's Point, where the company contemplates many improvements during the summer.

SHUT IN.

Delphos Will Lose Sight of the Outside World for Awhile.

Decisive Action Ordered by the State Health Board to Prevent Spread of Small Pox at Delphos.

In sizing up the small pox situation at Delphos, the Herald, of that city, says:

In addition to the cases of small pox already reported to the health officer, the sanitary policeman accidentally discovered a couple of cases in the Fourth ward, Monday afternoon, and sent a physician to investigate, who reported that the cases were no doubt small pox, but of a peculiarly mild form, varioloid.

A young woman by the name of Metcalf has the disease, and it was learned that three others in the same immediate neighborhood had gone through a course of the same sort of sickness, and although practically recovered, there were still scabs on the bodies, and the parties were going and coming at will.

A physician was not called in any one of the cases, the type being so mild that the patient was scarcely made to feel sick, but nevertheless the cases were small pox. Many have been exposed, and while the cases are mild at present; there is no telling when a virulent case will develop, followed by an alarming spread.

A meeting of the Board of Health this morning did the proper thing by instructing Health Officer Cochran to at once telegraph the State health officer, C. O. Probst, of Columbus, to come to Delphos and make a thorough investigation, take such steps as he in his official capacity may deem proper to check further contagion, and the Board of Health to see to it that orders are obeyed to the letter.

In the meantime rest easy and await the decision of Mr. Probst.

Clover Leaf Brakemen Prescott, Hutchens and Brunze, and Switchman Koehl are quarantined in a caboose in the shop yards, having been exposed to the disease.

Two of Henry Bill's children were reported afflicted, but an examination by a physician proved that it was only measles.

Word was received from Mr. Probst that he could not come, but would send Dr. Kahle, of Lima, who is a member of the State Board of Health, and he is expected this afternoon.

Dr. Kahle returned last night. He found that many persons had been exposed to the disease and the probability is that a number of new cases will be the result. It is stated that many of the strangers who were in attendance at the state meeting of the C. K. of O. and the convention of the Christian Endeavor held in Delphos last week were exposed and should this prove true the dreaded disease is likely to break out in several parts of the state.

PRINT A NEWSPAPER.

The sailors of the St. Paul have introduced an innovation in naval warfare—not a weapon of any sort, but a full-fledged newspaper (unless that could be called a weapon), which is published at sea at irregular intervals, or whenever the marines do not have to be on the alert for Spanish vessels, and find time to edit "copy," stick type, and work the printing press. It is a little four-page publication, 10x6 inches, and is called the St. Paul War Budget. Everybody from Capt. Sigsbee down takes a hand in "getting up copy" or at finding news to put in the little publication. The first issue came out the other day and was "run off" the press while the St. Paul was anchored off Sandy Hook. When Capt. Sigsbee visited the navy department he had but one copy of the paper with him and this he refused to part with because he did not know when the next volume would be issued. He allowed some favored few to read it.

Some of the jackies are born humorists, as is evidenced by this little paragraph: "Wasted Energy.—Chasing up newspaper boats has become monotonous of late. It causes us a useless expenditure of coal, which at this time we need so badly," while another item says: "The Enemy Found.—At last we have found the Spanish fleet. Now, Sampson or Schley, up and at them, and please, O, please, let the St. Paul get a shot." All incidents which serve to relieve the monotony of blockade duty are duly chronicled in the unique little paper, but the most interesting article of the first issue is "The St. Paul's Dairy," in which is described all the important movements of the ship from the time it left Philadelphia to its departure from Key West, May 30, for New York. "May 17—Arrived at Key West without incident. Crew still guessing as to our ultimate destination." This shows that the St. Paul arrived off Santiago May 22, five days before Schley, and cruised about entirely unconscious that the Spaniards had been safe in the harbor since May 19.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

Beelman & Bowers' Carriage and Repair Works Damaged.

Blaze Started in a Pile of Rims and Had Gained Considerable Headway.

About 6 o'clock last night fire was discovered in the Carriage and Repair Works of Beelman & Bowers, located in the large frame structure owned by the Dalzell estate, on the corner of Central avenue and Market street. The men had quit work only a few minutes before and when they left the place there was no evidence of fire. The fire started in a large pile of rims in the rear part of the building and in a few minutes crept into the paint shop, located on the second floor. In this room was stored a number of new buggies which were totally ruined.

The alarm was sent in from the box at the corner of Market street and the square, and when the fire laddies reached the scene the rear end of the building was completely enveloped in flames, and for a little while it looked as if the entire building was doomed. It wasn't long, however, until several streams were playing on the fire with telling effect and inside of fifteen minutes the fire was extinguished.

The work was well done and substantiates the fact long ago established—that Lima has one of the best managed and equipped fire departments in the state. It was a clever piece of work—everybody said so, and Chief Coats and his able corps of firemen are to be congratulated.

The building was damaged about $400, while the loss of Messrs. Beelman & Bowers will reach over a thousand dollars.

Heard and Seen.

O. T. Owen, of this city, for the past several years located at Kokomo, Indian, has received notice of his appointment as chief stenographer to the firs assistant secretary of the navy at Washington, and will probably leave for Washington at once.

The city has filed its answer in the injunction suit brought by C. F. Lufkin, and the case will be heard before Judge Mooney as soon as he can reach the city. According to a statement made by the engineer, of the Columbia Construction Company, no asphalt will be put on Market street befote September first. Now won't this be a pretty howdoyoudo? It looks to a man up a tree as if the contractor was now trying to get even with the residents of west Market street, simply because one of the residents was the cause of the injunction being filed. Pave the street, gentlemen, and do it as soon as possible. In case the injunction is dissolved there is no good reason why the paving should not go on at once.

Cashier C. D. Crites, of the First National Bank, this city, yesterday forwarded to the treasury department applications for $5,320 worth of the new bonds recently authorized by the government.

The activity with which the people are grabbing at the new government bonds tells plainly that it was a long-headed man or set of men that suggested letting them go to the thousands of small investors rather than to the big capitalists of Wall street.

The tens of thousands of people—workingmen, small tradesmen, professional men, and persons with modest estates—who have a few hundred or thousand dollars of surplus that they wish to draw a safe interest, all know that there is no surer place of investment than bonds of their Uncle Samuel; therefore when given a chance they eagerly offer to buy the issue just made. From all over the country come the same stories of more applications than the banks can attend to.

This proves that there is plenty of money among the body of the population. It is also evidence that the patriotism of the country has decreed that the bonds of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not get stuck in the market.

STILL ANOTHER.

The Cook Residence on Union Street Entered by Burglars.

According to the numerously reported thefts during the past few days in different parts of the city, it is evident that that there is a gang of professional crooks operating here. Night before last the Brotherton residence was robbed, and by the way THE NEWS was the only afternoon paper containing the facts about the affair. The same night burglars entered the Cook residence on North Union street and stole a number of articles. The family was absent from home at the time. An attempt was also made to enter the Churchill residence on the corner of High and Central avenue.

FIFTY DROWNED.

Appalling Accident During the Launching of the New British First-Class Battle Ship Albion at England.

LONDON, June 22.—During the launching of the new British first-class battle ship Albion, of 12,950 tons, at Blackwall Tuesday by the duchess of York, a ceremony at which the United States ambassador, Col. John Hay and Mrs. Hay and Lieut. Colwell, the United States naval attache, assisted, the displacement of water caused an immense mass of water to rise on all sides, completely submerging one of the lower stages of the yard and immersing hundreds of people. Ten bodies have been recovered, and it is estimated that 50 persons were drowned.

As this dispatch is sent, the bodies of 27 men, women and children have been recovered from the scene of the Blackwall disaster.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June —.—The captain and officers of the auxiliary cruiser Yosemite (formerly El Rio) feel foolish and are thoroughly vexed. As the Yosemite approached Port Royal about 5 o'clock Thursday morning she passed a large steamer going out. The Yosemite, with other American cruisers, had been especially warned about this Spaniard, as she would be a rich prize. She is said to have $100,000 in gold on board. Her cargo of food and medicine is destined ultimately for Cienfuegos and Havana.

CAN GOVERN THEMSELVES.

One Congressman Who Believes the Cubans Are Able to Manage Their Own Affairs.

"Considerable talk has been heard about the ability of the Cubans to govern themselves," said Representative Updegraff, of Iowa, "and even some of the officers connected with the Cuban army who have been in this country are reported as believing their people incapable of self-government. The same talk was current during and after the revolutionary war, and the people who indulged in it were tories of the most pronounced type, and history has proven that they were wrong. I believe our history will be repeated in Cuba, and the people of that island should be given a chance to show whether they can govern themselves or not. Of course they are not all Washingtons, but I believe there are plenty of men capable of assuming charge of the government, and when occasion demands men always appear who are equal to the emergency. After the Spanish troops are driven from Cuba our forces should be withdrawn and the people permitted to form a government which the majority of them favor, without any interference on our part, and I believe future events will prove that this is the proper course for our government to pursue."

AMERICAN FRUIT TREES.

Austria Shuts Them Out on Account of the San Jose Scale.

"If Austria wishes to exclude our fruit and shrubbery on account of the San Jose scale it is her own affair," said Representative Fletcher, of Minnesota. "We have about all we can attend to with the Spanish war on our hands, but when hostilities cease, if we find that our products have been discriminated against, then we can adjust the matter. It seems that Austria has good grounds for her actions, and is not the only country which has excluded our nursery stock on account of this scale. Canada—our next-door neighbor—has taken the same action, and it is next to impossible to have our products entered there. Few people understand that it is almost impossible to detect the presence of this scale, and even vigorous spraying does not seem to remedy the evil, and until something is found which will effectually rid the fruit growers of this pest they will have to content themselves with being excluded from those markets, but at the same time this government will do all it can in the premises."

A BORN COWARD.

An Eminent Dramatic Critic Makes This Strange Confession.

We were talking together in a club corner, says the Boston Journal. There was peace, for the chief bores were all down town and the genials had not yet arrived, expectant of cocktails. Mr. Bludyer, the eminent dramatic critic, who is popularly supposed to live chiefly on raw meat and New England rum, put his hand on our knee and made the following confession:

"My great-grandfather, a man of handsome property, raised a regiment at the breaking out of the revolutionary war and fought in several battles. He was finally accused of criminal cowardice—they say the accuser was a personal enemy. He demanded an investigation, but before his innocence could be established he was captured by the British in an engagement, and he died a prisoner. His widow was left poverty-stricken.

"Great is the power, lasting the curse of heredity! My dear boy, I tell you in confidence, I firmly believe that the charge was true, that my great-grandfather Hezekiah was a coward. And for this reason: Cowardice has ruined my life; it has also saved me. As a boy I was afraid of fire, of flood, of loneliness, of ghosts. I would not join in any sport; I feared lest I should be hurt. I could not learn to swim or skate—and the reason was nothing but fear. Thus I grew up timorous, pale, sickly. Even now I would not sleep alone in a flat. Even now I dislike to go upstairs in the dark, for I am sure that some hand will clutch my ankle, and I hear strange ironical chuckling in the shadows. In the country I cannot bear the view of the sky at night, and, oh, the irony of it! As a dramatic critic I am praised, feared and cursed for the 'ccurage' of my opinions. Man, dear, this 'courage" is a colossal bluff. I do not sign my articles—and I give as a reason, 'the managing editor does not believe in the practice,' whereas he really wishes me to sign. I feel that I am merely a part of a big machine, without personal responsibility. I slash away and cut and carve and use the bludgeon, rejoicing insolently in anonymity. As a reward, I hear myself described as 'a brave fellow'—'one who is not afraid to say what he thinks'—'you can't buy his opinion.' If I were obliged to sign a dramatic review I should follow the formula of a certain western critic, who writes invariably of any actor: 'He done noble, and the brilliant audience went home well pleased with its evening's entertainment.'

"In reality I am the shyest of men. Here I am drinking New England rum. And why? I don't enjoy it. I drink it to give me artificial courage—for I must see a new American play this evening—and to round out the impression of vigor and boldness. At home I drink weak tea with a great deal of sugar. I know you will not believe this confession. You will call me mock modest. I know that my great-grandfather must have been a coward, and there is one that knows my cowardice—she is my wife." And with this remark Mr. Bludyer, the eminent and fearless dramatic critic, called for another New England rum and water.

THE SPANISH ARMADA.

Relics of This Famous Fleet That Have Been Found in Sligo Bay.

William Frederic Tilton, writing of the Spanish armada in the Century, says:

One of the most fatal spots for armada ships has been Sligo bay. When Geoffrey Fenton went to view this scene of disaster he found Spanish guns sunk half a horseman's staff in the shifting sand, and "numbered in one strand of less than five miles in length above 1,100 dead corpses of men which the sea had driven upon the shore;" and the country people told him "the like was in other places, though not of like number." Somewhat later, the lord deputy, on his way, as he expressed it, to dispatch "those rags" of the Spaniards which still infected the country, saw with amazement the masses of wreckage scattered along a beach on the same coast—timber enough to build "five of the greatest ships that ever I saw, besides mighty great boats, cables and other cordage, and some such masts for bigness and length as I never saw any two could make the like." A copy of the sailing directions given by Medina Sidonia, found in some sea captain's sea chest among the wreckage, fell into the lord deputy's hands. A grim smile must have flitted over his face as he read the words: "Take great heed lest you fall upon the island of Ireland, for fear of the harm that may happen unto you upon that coast." An armada relic still more touching than these instructions is part of a letter written off Dingley by a Spanish captain, begging the president of Munster for friendly treatment. Into a bundle of state papers which tell, in the language of the victors, the awful story of shipwreck and bloodshed on the Irish coast, this fragment, rusty and stained, as if by salt water, has strayed like a wail from the vanquished.

OSCAR S. STRAUSS.
(New American Minister to the Ottoman Empire.)

According to estimates made by Adjt. Gen. Corbin, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Times, the total number of troops left at Tampa after the sailing of the Santiago expedition is in the neighborhood of 23,000. This includes the portion of the Fourth corps remaining at Mobile, which is regarded as a sub station of the Tampa camp.

The war department expects to utilize approximately 35 transports in the expedition for the invasion of Porto Rico. This statment was made officially at the department Thursday. It seems to indicate that the Porto Rico will equal if not exceed in numbers that which left for Santiago. The estimate is made that the 35 vessels will carry between 15,000 and 20,000 men with their equipments and subsistence.

SPAIN'S NATIONAL DEBT.

Is the Enormous Amount of $94 Per Capita in American Money.

Some idea of the magnitude of this burden resting upon the Spanish people can be gained by a comparison with our own situation. Their national debt per capita is about 486 pesetas, or $94 in American money. Mulhall, a few years ago, estimated the wealth of Spain at about $455 per capita; perhaps by this time it could be placed at $460. The per capita debt of the Spanish government, therefore, is more than 20 per cent. of the per capita wealth of the entire nation.

The debt of the United States government, which in 1866 amounted to two and three-quarter billions of dollars, stood in January, 1898, at (net) $1,011,701,338.64, including the greenbacks. This would be a per capita indebtedness of about $14. The per capita wealth of the United States was, in 1890, $1,036; now it is of course greater, but even on the 1890 basis, the per capita indebtedness of the government to-day amounts to only 1½ per cent. of the per capita wealth of the nation. The per capita interest charge on this debt amounted, in 1896-97, to about 53 cents; in Spain the annual cost of the public debt is nearly $6 per capita.—Gunton's Magazine.

OH, GRAVE!

Where is Thy Victory; Oh, Death! Where is Thy Sting?

The Young and Old Alike Are Called to Their Last Home—Death and Funerals About the City.

James Maxwell, one of the oldest residents of Lima, and one of the pioneers of Allen county, died at his late home on North West street yesterday.

Mr. Maxwell was in the ninety-seventh year of his life, and the direct cause of his death was old age and general debility.

The deceased came here from Pennsylvania many years ago and has been identified with the city and its best interests since his earliest residence here. He was a good Christian gentleman, beloved by all who knew him.

The funeral services will be held from the residence on Thursday at 2:30 o'clock; place of interment Woodlawn cemetery.

The remains of Guy Bowdle will arrive in the city tonight at 9 o'clock. They will be accompanied by Undertaker Dent, of Van Wert, and until their arrival here nothing definite as to the time of the funeral will be given out.

James Sullivan, a well known young man, died at his late home on North Main street shortly after 6 o'clock this morning. He had been ill for several months, and some time ago his recovery was despaired of.

CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY.

Novel Method of a New York Doctor in Treating His Patients of the Fashionable Set.

There is no elegant phrase for the description of a New York doctor's cure for the nervous debility of Fifth avenue patients. The doctor simply cures nervousness by fattening the patient.

Every spring he has had a dozen or more such patients upon his hands, and this time he has opened a place where he can keep them under his immediate care and see that all his rules are rigidly carried out by nurses employed for the purpose.

The fattening cure promises to become a Fifth avenue fad. "Sound, healthy flesh is muscle, or muscle undeveloped. The society woman is a wreck at the end of a season. There is an overdraft upon her system, and it must be met." These are the doctor's premises. His conclusion appears to be logical. "What they need are rest and fattening."

Patients who are taking the fattening cure must spend six weeks in bed. The doctor will tolerate no substitute in the form of invalid or steamer chairs.

"What you need is absolute relaxation, and you can get it nowhere else," he says. During the day he insists that the room be as light as sunshine can make it. He believes that sunlight has a rare tonic effect, and wants his patients to have as much as possible during prescribed hours.

He insists as a primary rule that the patient sleep nine hours a day; more if possible. His food is all of liquid form, and is given every hour. The quantity is increased until it is two and a half times as much as is taken by a normal person. It consists of eggs, chocolate and milk. Exercise is taken in the form of light massage twice a day.

OF STUFF TO MAKE HEROES.

James McGinnis Picks Up a Box of Smoking Ammunition at Tampa and Throws It Into the River.

James McGinnis, an old soldier of the war of the rebellion, proved himself to be a brave man the other day. McGinnis is a civilian employe of the government, and has been working in the arsenal storehouse, which is just opposite the Plant hotel at Tampa, Fla. The arsenal is an old gymnasium which has been utilized for the storage of cartridges and other explosives.

While a number of roustabouts were carrying out ammunition a wooden box containing Krag-Jorgensen ammunition was seen to be smoking; the man carrying the box dropped it and fled in terror. The other laborers followed him, with the exception of McGinnis. The gray-haired old veteran was not to be scared by a little thing like that. He ran to the box, picked it up against his breast, and, hurrying to the wharf, threw it into the river.

Lieut. Parker, who had charge of the men, said this was as brave an act as he had ever witnessed. Had the cartridges started to explode they might have wrecked the building setting off other boxes. Then powder cans would have gone up and the $3,000,000 Plant hotel would have been wrecked and many lives might have been lost. McGinnis did not seem to feel that he had performed an act of any great importance and quietly went on about his business.

TO CUT A SWELL.

Wealthy Montana Mine Owner to Build a Magnificent Mansion in New York.

W. A. Clark, the Montana mine owner and millionaire who paid $42,000 for Fortuny's "Choosing the Model," will begin the construction of a palace on the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-Seventh street, New York city, in the near future.

The building will be erected from designs made by French architects. The man who designed the Palais de Justice on the Seine, it is said, is engaged in putting the finishing touches upon the plans.

Mr. Clark, when he is in New York, which is seldom, lives in the Lisbon apartment house at 175 West Fifty-eighth street. He returned from Europe two weeks ago and has gone to Butte City. When he purchased Fortuny's masterpiece at the Stewart sale it was his first step into prominence in New York.

George J. Gould had helped to run up the price of the picture and bid $41,000. Mr. Clark quietly raised him $1,000 and added the famous painting to his large collection of pictures by famous artists.

Mr. Clark built a handsome mausoleum in Woodlawn cemetery recently that cost $150,000. He is part owner of the rich Anaconda copper mines in Montana and other valuable mines. Mr. Clark's wife died five years ago.
